PATIENCE IN ACTION

Near the end of March we started focusing on the character trait of patience. The word patience was defined as waiting without getting upset. At times, being patient is very hard to do.

Last Thursday our 8th grade class began their travels to Washington D.C. by coach bus. After over 11 hours of driving through the night, they arrived at their first stop in Shanksville, PA to visit the Flight 93 Memorial. They were eager to get to their destination (DC) but patiently traveled and patiently toured the memorial. They patiently listened to the tour guide share the tragedy that occurred on September 11, 2001. Later they wrote about this experience in their journals. There was no complaining. What a wonderful example of patience these students displayed! We all could take a page from their book.

Next week we will wrap up our discussion with the list of qualities. A patient person will:

- *Wait their turn
- *Not complain when they don't get their way
- *Accept what cannot be changed
- *Use their time wisely
- *Try and try again (since sometimes we aren't successful the first time)
